SHARED GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE- At Dakota State University (DSU), shared governance is shared decision-making based on the principles of partnership, equity, accountability, and ownership at the point of service. Shared leadership facilitates the decision-making process, information sharing, and transparency. DSU leadership, faculty, and staff are committed to the notion of shared governance. DSU has a solid shared governance structure reflected in the workings of the General Faculty, an array of committees dealing with multiple facets of academic issues, as well as faculty representations on various committees. Further supporting shared governance and strengthening the culture of meaningful engagement, DSU's Shared Governance Committee provides leadership to facilitate shared decision-making and information sharing, provides transparency, and creates partnership and equity amongst more university participants. The committee is to provide consultation to campus units, to monitor committee infrastructure and dissemination of minutes to support shared governance, to provide additional lines of communication to foster transparency, increase the dissemination of information, and to complete any special projects assigned to the committee by the Provost.
