STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
M.B.A. in Business Administration

Upon completion of the M.B.A. degree in Business Administration, students will:

• be able to synthesize and apply functional knowledge in the fields of economics, management, marketing, operations, finance, and accounting.

• be able to utilize current technology, information literacy, and qualitative and quantitative analysis in business decision-making.

• be able to demonstrate collaborative and communication skills necessary to lead an organization.

• be able to demonstrate knowledge of techniques for dealing with ethical issues and dilemmas that businesses encounter.